Two Bills Beaten By 49-46 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated both Republican and Democratic plans for an income tax cut yesterday and thus produced a big victory for the Eisenhower administration, which says the budget can't stand any more such reductions now.

The votes were 49-46 in both instances but weren't identical except for the total.

DEFERRED for the Republican plan came at the hands of 47 Democrats, Sen. Langer (R-ND) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), against a solid lineup of 46 GOP senators.

The Democrats' plan fell before a combination of 45 Republicans and four Democrats—Byrd (Va.), Holland (Fla.), Robertson (Va.), and Johnson (Colo.). Supporting it were 43 Democrats, plus Langer, Morse and Young (R-ND).

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was the only absent senator.

BRIEFLY, here is what the opposing sides maneuvered over in a long and busy session:

The Democratic plan. Offered by Sen. George (D-Ga.), it would boost all personal exemptions from $600 to $700, but the tax benefit on each $100 of additional exemption would be limited to $25. Thus, a man and wife with one child could get a reduction of as much as $75 a year.

The Republican plan. Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Senate Finance Committee came up with it only yesterday in 11th hour strategy to block the George plan.

WITH SOME exceptions, it would allow an extra $100 exemption for a man, and also his wife, filing a joint return but would increase the exemption for dependents. The effect would be a $40 reduction to a couple, since the exemption increase would apply only to the lowest taxable income bracket, which carries a 20 per cent rate.

Also, to meet Democratic criticism that the Republican plan to give tax relief on dividend income was unduly favorable to the wealthy, Millikin proposed to cut down this relief. As it passed the House this provision would eliminate taxes on the first $50 of dividend income, and the taxpayer would rise to $100 and the credit to 10 per cent.

MILLIKIN's late offer was to knock out the second year step and leave the dividend relief at $50 and 5 per cent credit.

A voice vote accepted the changes Millikin proposed on dividends, George saying it was only "one-half as bad" as the House bill.

Then came the roll call votes. First, Millikin offered the Republican plan as a substitute for the Democrats'. That motion fell by the wayside just before 4:30 p. m.

Some more maneuvering, and then the Democratic plan was offered. It died about 5:40 p. m.

MILLIKIN and George agreed in talking to reporters that the two votes had killed any chances of general tax relief in the pending general tax bill.

They said they did not expect any further attempts to write income tax cutting amendments into the measure.

Under the parliamentary situation, the watered down plan for dividend relief remained in the bill but that was still subject to later action.

Mine Closing Passes With No Incidents

LANSFORD (AP)—The Panther Valley's principal industry—the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co.—closed its doors yesterday and its 5,000 workers were officially without jobs.

The day set for the close-down of the anthracite firm's operations passed with little incident. The death of the company had come last week when its parent, the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., decided to get out of the hard coal mining business.

THAT DECISION was reached, the company said because not all the valley's miners had agreed to a company plan for increased production—a plan Lehigh said was necessary to operate at a profit.

At a meeting held in Bethlehem, Lehigh Coal and Navigation officials officially dissolved Lehigh Navigation Coal as its operating subsidiary.

Lehigh Navigation Coal has given to the Panther Valley Business and Professional Men's Committee for New Industry a large plot of ground near Lansford to be used to erect a building to attract industry to the area.

Three Survive Crash

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP)—A C-47 military transport plane crashed near Mitchell Air Force Base last night on its way in for a landing. Police reported three persons aboard and said they survived the crash.

Market Values Rise; Assessments Fail To Keep Pace

MONROE COUNTY'S assessment picture was a little less blurred in 1953—but the assessed value stayed at a standstill.

The relationship between the real value of county property and the amount at which it was assessed was still two full per cent below the 1949 level.

According to the annual report of the State Tax Equalization Board in Harrisburg, Monroe County real estate had a market value of $96,832,500 last year.

AT THE same time the total assessed value of county property was $20,848,755. County property was assessed at only 21.5 per cent of its actual value, the STEB report reveals.

All figures used in the 1954 report—covering values for 1953—have been certified to the equalization board by county officials, the board says.

Only one Monroe County district showed a marked change for the better; several others failed to keep pace with rapidly rocketing real estate sale prices on the assessment level.

LONE EXCEPTION was Hamilton Township. In 1952 Hamilton had a market value of $3,873,960; was assessed at $674,627 or 17.4 per cent.

Hamilton's market value for 1953 was $4,107,400, the STEB report says. Assessments in that district rose to $795,935 for the year.

The assessment percentage (relationship of assessments to actual value) for Hamilton in 1953 was 19.4—an increase of two per cent.

Hamilton's 19.4 assessed percentage was far below the percentage for some other districts in the area, however. Although it showed a more equalized basis it did not represent a percentage on the same level with districts where attempts at equalization had been made in the past.

THE TOTAL market value of Monroe County's 20 districts increased more than $3 million from 1952 to 1953. In 1952 the county-wide total was $93,828,408. Last year the total was $96,832,500—an increase of $3,004,092.

Assessed valuation for Monroe County, meanwhile, was up $821,513 over 1952. The 1952 total was $20,027,242. Assessments for 1953 totaled $20,848,755.

Three Monroe County districts accounted for more than 50 per cent of this $21,513 assessed value increase.

THEY WERE Tobyhanna where assessments totaled $1,160,794 in 1952 and $1,311,645 in 1953 for an increase of $150,851; Stroud where the A. V. rose from $1,430,357 in 1952 to $1,574,195 in 1953 for an increase of $143,838; Hamilton where assessments rose from $674,627 in 1952 to $795,935 in 1953 for an increase of $121,308.

Total increase for three townships: $415,997—well over half the total county increase for 20 districts.

The following is a comparative breakdown on State Tax Equalization Board figures for individual districts for 1953 and the preceding report year:

BARRETT TOWNSHIP: Market value for 1953 was $13,718,500. The assessed value for the same period was $2,344,650 or 17.1 per cent of the real value. Barrett's percentage remained exactly the same as that for 1952. (Real value was $13,350,162 in 1952; assessed value was $2,287,340. Barrett's assessment percentage in 1951 was 17.63, however.)

Chestnuthill Township: $3,209,400 market value in 1953 with an assessed valuation of $577,937 or 18 per cent of actual value. (Real value in 1952 was $3,116,030; assessed value was $561,762 or 18.03 per cent. The STEB no longer "carries" percentage figures to the hundredth as was the practice each year up to now.)

ket value was $1,638,600. Assessed valuation was $443,956 or 27.1 per cent of real value. (Real value in 1952 was $1,574,272; assessed value was $430,294 or 27.33 per cent. The 1951 assessment percentage was 27.69 for Coolbaugh. The percentage has decreased steadily the past three years.)

DELAWARE WATER GAP borough: Market value in 1953 was $1,259,200 while the assessed value was $394,425 or 31.3 per cent of real value. (Note: Both the real value and assessed value for Water Gap property in 1953 was below that for the preceding year. In 1952 the borough's real property was worth $1,318,586; assessed at $414,900. Decreases were largely due to condemnation of property for right-of-way purposes in connection with new Delaware bridges and approaches. The borough's assessment percentage was 31.47 in 1952 and 32.49 in 1951.)

East Stroudsburg borough: Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg borough assessed valuations failed to keep pace with rising market values in 1953. East Stroudsburg had a market value of $14,847,100 with assessed valuation of $3,808,395 or 25.7 per cent. (1952 figures show that the borough had $14,370,194 market value with total assessments of $3,761,660 or 26.18 per cent. The 1951 percentage figure was 27.16.)

ELDRIDGE TOWNSHIP: 1953 market value was $1,477,600 with assessed value at $286,105 or 19.4 per cent.

New Jersey Moves To Buy Worthington Tract

5,500-Acre Property May Become Park

THE STATE of New Jersey is negotiating to buy a 5,500-acre tract from the Worthington family of Monroe County for development as a State park.

The huge property—one of the largest singly-owned tracts in the State—lies in Warren County, N. J., just across the Delaware River from Monroe County.

YESTERDAY an aerial inspection of the property was made, with a conference following. Present were Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey; R. S. Worthington and Edward Worthington of Shawnee; Alex L. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney, and Walter Van Campen, overseer of the Warren County tract.

New Jersey officials, particularly the Fish and Game Commission, are continuing their investigation into the possible purchase.

THE AREA is roughly rectangular. The southwest boundary is almost opposite Point-of-Gap in Delaware Water Gap. The tract includes 4.5 miles of uninterrupted Delaware River frontage, some of it opposite Shawnee, and running northeast.

Several miles of Dunfield Creek lie within the area.

The entire tract is more than six miles long and lies in three townships—Knowlton, Pahaquarry and Blairstown Townships.

THE PROPERTY adjoins the new freeway from Columbia through Delaware Water Gap over Delaware Water Gap toll bridge.

The Appalachian Trail passes through it.

Another feature of the tract is a 130-acre natural lake situated on top of one of the Kittatinny Ridges which comprise the tract. The lake is 1,350 feet above sea level.

NEARLY all the tract was acquired by the late Charles C. Worthington between 1890 and 1905. He was founder and builder of Shawnee Inn and golf course, which he operated until selling it to the present owner, Waring Enterprises, Worthington was the founder of Worthington Mower Co. in Monroe County.

Worthington—and his family since his death—preserved the property virtually intact.

AT ONE TIME it was fenced in as a game preserve and leased to the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission. The property is famous for its deer herd.

As long ago as 1920 there were negotiations with New Jersey for sale of the property. The Worthington family had frequently encouraged the State to acquire the property for park use.

No tentative price was disclosed after yesterday's conference.

Gavin Opposes Farm Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pennsylvania Dutch don't want any "pie-in-the-sky" subsidy program, Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) told the House yesterday.

MARCHIONESS Irma Capece Minutolo, 22, daughter of a Naples nobleman, has announced in Rome her engagement to former King Farouk of Egypt. They met in St. Moritz. No date has been set for the wedding but it is understood that the Marchioness' mother has been against the wedding unless Farouk is baptized.

Grand Jury Recommends Indictments

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A special Allegheny County Grand Jury yesterday recommended the indictment of two members of Gov. John S. Fine's cabinet and 16 other state job-holders on conspiracy and mailing charges.

The two cabinet members named in the grand jury's presentment are Artemus C. Leslie, state insurance commissioner and former district attorney of Allegheny County, and L. Merle Campbell, state banking secretary.

LESLIE AND Campbell were recommended for indictment on charges of "conspiring to unlawfully demand an assessment or percentage of money" from state employees for political uses.

In all, the special grand jury recommended 35 indictments against the 18 individuals. It does not have the power to indict, but can only recommend such action to the regular grand jury.

Judge William H. McNaugher of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court signed the 14-page presentment and instructed Dist. Atty. James F. Malone to place the recommendations before the September grand jury.

Moscow Claims Development Of Atomic Engine

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union claimed victory yesterday in the international race to harness the power of the atom for industrial uses. A Moscow broadcast said the Russians have opened a small atomic-engine power station.

It gave no hint as to the location of the station, but said Soviet authorities and engineers are planning the construction of other such plants with capacities from 50,000 to 100,000 kilowatts.

Both the United States and Britain have started work on atomic plants to generate electricity for industry but neither is scheduled for completion for several years.

Guatemalan Reds Still Make Trouble

By Jack Rutledge

QUATEMALA (AP)—The anti-Communist ruling junta rushed troops yesterday to Escuintla, a hotbed of Communism 30 miles south of Guatemala City, where a top Red leader was reported plotting an uprising among farm workers.

Other Communist and leftist chiefs still at large also were reported bent on stirring up troubles.

These reports came as Col. El-fegio Monzon, junta leader, and the rebel chief, Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, both intensely anti-Communists, flew to neighboring neutral El Salvador for their peace conference.

THE SALVADOR talks are expected to give this country its fourth government in less than a week.

Among those meeting the planes of the rival leaders at San Salvador was U. S. Ambassador Michael McDermott.

Guatemala City was calm and joyous yesterday with the 12-day shooting conflict halted under a cease-fire.

For the first time in weeks the radios were playing American jazz—even the former Communist station. The main cloud on the horizon appeared to be the threatened trouble at Escuintla, which long has been regarded as a center of Communist subversion.

SOME UPRISINGS also have developed among Red-indoctrinated farm workers. Word reached here yesterday that a police chief was stoned to death Tuesday near the village of Pinula. Trouble also was reported at Concepcion, near Escuintla.

The junta continued its roundup of Communists and pro-Communists who were a mainstay of the regime of Jacobo Arben Guzman. He resigned as president Sunday night under army pressure.

A heavy guard was thrown around the Mexican Embassy, where some top Reds and officials of the old junta government were still refugees.

TWO OUSTED police officials of the Arben regime, Rogelio Cruz Wer and Maj. Jaime Rosenberg, were reported to have fled from refuge in the Argentine Embassy and were being pursued by the army. They are regarded as leaders of a widespread blood purge the pro-Communists waged while in power and are among the men most wanted by the anti-Communist authorities.

Millions Watch Moon's Shadow Pass Across Sun

By The Associated Press

Through eye protectors ranging from smoked basement windows to negatives of family snapshots, millions yesterday watched an eclipse of the sun.

For the sky watchers, it was a once in a lifetime chance to see the moon pass between the sun and the earth.

The eclipse was total in parts of five states, casting a giant shadow as it raced from Nebraska across one third of the world to India. Where weather conditions were favorable, a partial eclipse was visible through most of the United States except in the West.

President Seeks Peaceful Coexistence With Reds But Won't Make Anyone 'Slave'

By John Seals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday the West must find a way to live peacefully with Russia but "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave."

At a news conference, the President made it clear that he is less optimistic than Britain's Prime Minister Churchill about the prospects for working out a "peaceful coexistence" agreement with the Communist world.

CHURCHILL, in ending his confidential talks with Eisenhower Monday, appealed for "a real good try" at arriving at such an understanding in order to avert a horrible atomic war. He expressed the view the Russians "will not throw away such an opportunity."

Eisenhower in talking to reporters, described a peaceful coexistence arrangement with Russia as the hope of the world.

But, he said, Russia's aggressive attitude thus far has prevented building a proper foundation for such an agreement.

IN A RINGING voice, the President declared he wants to make sure "peaceful coexistence" does not mean appeasement or putting any country in bondage to Communism against his will.

To emphasize his views, the President relaxed the usual White House news conference rules and permitted reporters to quote him directly on these words:

"I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave."

THE PRESIDENT'S words appeared to foreshadow American refusal to back or cooperate with any Indochina truce deal which would turn over a big part of Viet Nam to Red control.

In answer to a specific question, however, he refused to rule this out completely, saying he would first have to study any such truce which might be agreed on.

Secretary of State Dulles is known, however, to have served notice the United States would disassociate itself from any Indochina cease fire which smacks of appeasement but would not seek to upset it if France goes ahead despite America's view.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday that if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer wants to appeal to him from the 4-1 Atomic Energy Commission decision that bars him from atomic secrets, he will be heard.

The President added, however, that the commission was made up of men he trusted and that he had sent them last December what he described as a very disturbing report on the famed scientist they have now held to be a security risk.

EISENHOWER made his Oppenheimer comments at a fast-moving news conference, his first in two weeks.

The conference ranged from the matter of peaceful coexistence with the Russians to the question of whether Vice President Nixon has been "hurting the Democrats' feelings" and thus impeding a bipartisan foreign policy.

On Nixon and the Democrats, Eisenhower said his vice president is an admirable man, a great American who normally talks pretty much the language of the administration.

Arrested By Reds

CHICAGO (AP)—Jules Dubois, Chicago Tribune reporter covering events in Guatemala, reported yesterday he was arrested twice and ordered to leave the country before the anti-Red rebel forces won out.

FRANCIS X. T. Crowley, 28, of New York City, testifies before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington, in an attempt to purge himself of contempt charges. Last year he refused to say whether or not he had ever been a Communist. Appearing voluntarily at this session, he admitted joining the Communist Party in 1946 while a student at Columbia University, but said he is no longer a Red.

Two McCarthy Aides Refused Clearance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two staff members of the McCarthy Investigations subcommittee have been refused clearance by the Defense Department to inspect secret material, senators on the subcommittee said yesterday. Names of the two were not announced.

The subcommittee also announced receipt of a report from the Army on the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, New York City dentist, whom Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has called a "Fifth Amendment Communist." The report deals with Peress' promotion and honorable discharge last February.

SEN. MUNDT (R-SD), who acted as chairman of the subcommittee in its televised Army-McCarthy hearings, said a letter from Army Secretary Stevens implied that some officers have been disciplined in connection with the handling of the Peress matter.

He said the secretary's letter indicated the promotion and discharge was "a mistake that grew out of the mechanics" of Army processing and that corrective steps have been taken to prevent a recurrence.

MUNDT said both the report on the Peress case and a letter from Wilber M. Brucker, Defense Department general counsel, on the two staff employees, are being turned over to McCarthy. The latter stepped down from the subcommittee chairmanship during the hearings, and any further action would be up to the regular group, Mundt added.

Rankin Proposes Bonus For Vets

HARRISBURG (AP)—A ranking state official yesterday proposed a cash bonus to Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean conflict.

Clyde E. Rankin, deputy adjutant general, said he would favor such a bonus.

$3.3 Billion Foreign Aid Bill Approved

By Wilmet Hercher

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House approved a $3,368,608,000 foreign aid program yesterday but recommended that help be denied any nation in Southeast Asia which enters into a "Locarno-type" non-aggression treaty with the Communists.

President Eisenhower got about 97 per cent of the money he asked for to buttress free nations against the threat of Red aggression during the fiscal year beginning tomorrow.

THE HOUSE cut only 100 million dollars out of the program before passing the bill on a 260-125 roll-call vote and sending it to the Senate.

It voted 390-0, however, to attach an amendment declaring it to be "the sense of Congress" that not one penny of an 800 million dollar fund authorized for the defense of Southeast Asia be used "on behalf of governments which are committed by treaty to maintain Communist rule over any defined territory of Asia."

HOUSE MEMBERS said they wanted the amendment to be the answer of Congress to last week's proposal by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that Southeast Asian countries negotiate a series of nonaggression pacts with Red China similar to the 1920s Locarno treaties of the 1920s.

The amendment would not be binding upon the President, merely advisory.

Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday that he doesn't know of any difficulties which might be caused by the amendment. He added that he had been advised by his experts that it would not limit the administration in what it is trying to do.

AS APPROVED by the House, $986,500,000 in military and economic aid would go to American allies in Europe, $1,768,900,000 to the Far East and Pacific, $599,100,000 to Africa and India, 47 million to Latin America and $165,500,000 for supplementary programs.

Flood Waters Leave 38 Dead

EAGLE PASS, TEX. (AP)—Thirty-eight were known dead last night as the falling floodwaters of the treacherous Rio Grande drained away from the Mexican city of Piedras Negras.

First definite reports coming from the stricken city of 35,000 across the river said there were 65 persons in hospitals with more injured and disabled coming in continually. Hundreds may be dead.

Earlier there had been unconfirmed reports of a death toll from 200 to 500.

Vela told Gossett that at least 15,000 residents of Piedras Negras were driven from their homes and from 6,000 to 7,000 were still living in the hills around the city without water, food or shelter. He said 80 per cent of the city's homes were flooded, with 40 per cent of them destroyed. Many of the homes were of adobe with thatch roofs.

Evans Re-elected

WILKES-BARRE (AP)—Lawrence County Republicans have re-elected unanimously as their chairman Rowland W. Evans, a strong backer of Gov. John Fine.

Diehm Appoints G. P. O'Neill To Committee On New Road Projects For Anthracite Area

HAZLETON—Gerald P. O'Neill, operator of the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, was named to a special highway construction liaison committee here yesterday by the Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission.

The committee was appointed by Victor C. Diehm, president, to encourage the federal government to approve additional road construction projects for Pennsylvania's hard-pressed anthracite region and other chronic labor surplus areas.

NAMED as chairman was Joseph Maguire of Pottsville. Other members are Willis W. Jones, executive secretary of Scranton Chamber of Commerce; Edward Poggi, transportation committee chairman, Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce, and E. L. Schmidt, State secretary of highways.

Diehm and Charles Weissman, of Wilkes-Barre, will serve as executive committee members.

President Diehm also appointed an advisory group of these regional motor club directors: John W. Lawrence, Shamokin; Allen Hunsinger, Scranton; Walter A. Jones, Pottsville; Clifford W. Bigelow, Wilkes-Barre and William Van Dyke, of Hazleton.

THE NEW committee, Diehm disclosed, was considered following a White House discussion last week with presidential aides on the proposals presented President Eisenhower in May.

The highway committee was named to a complete review of the federal government's $455,000,000 program can be made in the light of NPIDC's proposed use of Federal funds for projects in surplus labor areas.

Diehm said he expects Pennsylvania to receive about 10 per cent of the national appropriation, and the State government will authorize equal funds under the grant-in-aid program.

HE INDICATED the new committee's chief function is to speed both federal and state action in allocating funds with a direct appeal for early clearance of northeastern Pennsylvania projects. This is done, he explains, in view of the region's heavy surplus of idle workers, now 70,000.

Northeastern Pennsylvania

stands in great need for widening of federal routes and additional new ones, Diehm said. Particularly, at this time, in view of new feeder requirements of the Northeast extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike and authorization of spur links on the New York thruway.

The offices of Dr. Wm. E. Brinker will be closed the week of July 4. Adv.

Christine's Term In VFW Office Ends

HARRISBURG—Elmer D. Christine, Monroe County district attorney, concludes his tenure as State commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars here this weekend at the 35th annual State encampment.

Christine and four other VFW representatives from the Stroudsburg Post are here for the party which begins today and concludes Saturday with a parade.

Lawrence Savercool, national aid-de-camp, is serving as delegate from the Stroudsburg Post. Other Stroudsburg VFW members here are Frank J. Weiler, past district commander and past Stroudsburg commander; Russell Hoffman and Charles Nevil.

Election of officers is slated for Saturday morning with Commander Christine in charge.

On the agenda for discussion are resolutions pertaining to pensions and veterans claims. Delegates also are expected to go on record against the Soviet Union's Far East and Indochina aggression. Members also are expected to again ask for universal military training.

Ladies Auxiliary also is holding its convention here and is expected to devote much time to extending its program of aid and comfort to sick and needy veterans and their families.

ONE of the Auxiliary's principal projects, the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., will be reviewed. The Auxiliary's new cancer research clinic at Shadyside Hospital, Pittsburgh, also will be the subject for discussion. The hospital was established in memory of Mrs. Amelia C. Kane, of Pittsburgh, a past State and National Auxiliary president. Scotland School for veterans' children also will receive the Auxiliary's attention.

Tomorrow night a colorful pageant of drums will be held at McDewitt Hall and Saturday's parade in the downtown section will culminate the encampment.

Refreshing Approach

Only after a careful "on the scene" study of Stroudsburg's traffic strangle, including a traffic count check he made on all of the involved streets, did Sen. George M. Leader, Democratic nominee for Governor express an opinion that a thruway skirting Stroudsburg is the real answer to free movement of travel.

Leader, as you would normally expect from a "politician" didn't grasp at the opportunity at first flush to make a statement against a plan put up by a Republican administration.

The candidate wanted first hand information. He wanted to go out and see the bypass idea proposed by Sect. of Highways E. L. Schmidt. He wanted to get the facts of the state's own traffic count and origin and destination survey. He wanted to study all the petitions of ten major organizations and action taken by four service clubs.

Only then did Sen. Leader venture to make his statement that the answer to the Stroudsburg traffic strangle is a thruway skirting the borough limits and not the Schmidt bypass.

"The very word bypass," he said "means a route going around something, not through it."

Leader's concern about this problem took on a regional aspect when he studied the resort industry layout in the region and the location of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

His decision to fly to Washington and join Rep. Francis E. Walter in a study of the effect of moving the Seventh & Main St. traffic scramble two blocks west to Ninth and Main St. is a further indication of Sen. Leader's sound approach to the traffic problem here.

The candidate's interest was heightened when he learned that no organized group in the county favors the Schmidt plan. He praised the fairness of the approach in asking only that an unbiased regional survey of the traffic problem be made so that any money spent will serve the future and not become an expenditure for expediency.

Mr. Leader's interest was obviously genuine. His approach to a grave problem affecting the interests of Monroe County, whether he is able to accomplish anything or not, is most refreshing.

A Good Lesson

More and more people must realize that the Tobyhanna Signal Depot and its workers are now an integral part of the Pocono Mountains.

Latest demonstrations is the decision of executives and workers of the Depot to stage a special blood donor day at the depot to wipe out the American Red Cross blood donor deficit from Monroe County.

Not only the Red Cross here, but the General Hospital serves the depot people. They recognize the value of these services and are determined that sufficient blood will be available for use at the hospital.

The Depot people have given the people of Monroe County a demonstration in civic responsibility none of us shall forget.

Watch Out for Fires

Throughout the Poconos, where rainfall has been far below normal, woods and brushlands are tinder dry. It doesn't take much to start them blazing—a carelessly dropped match, a cigarette flicked out of an automobile window.

At the same time, the lack of rain has cut heavily into water supplies in many areas and water pressure is low. This would severely handicap firemen if a big blaze were to break out.

There is much that you can do to prevent the disaster of fire. Double-check yourself and your family on fire prevention measures around your home. Don't toss burning matches or cigarettes out of your automobile windows. If you are in the woodlands or fields, be extremely careful of lighted cigarettes and matches.

An ounce of prevention always is worth a pound of cure.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Letter From A Kiddie-Camp
("Investigations" of summer children's camps in New York State, said to be under Communist control, are being made.) News item.

Dear Mommer:
I am having a fine time here. We are learning to swim, row boats and to dislike the American system through daily schedules. The camp is on a big lake and each morning before we take swimming lessons an instructor gives us a lecture. He says a man named Lenin introduced diving and that the diving board was invented by somebody named Stalin. We went fishing yesterday. We used red poles, red lines and red floats. There was a lecture on a fish called the sturgeon. The man said it laid eggs called caviar. He said there were no sturgeon in American lakes, due to Wall Street.

I went out in a canoe. The instructor said the canoe was invented by a Russian named Ivan. Tomorrow he is going to tell us about the Russian who invented the paddle. The food in camp is very good. We get something called bortsch. The man says I must eat red cabbage with sour cream if I expect to get a merit badge. A funny thing happened today. We did not get any lunch. The man told me the cook had staged a walkout. The waiters wear blouses and leather boots. There are a lot of mosquitoes here but the man says they will be wiped out under a five-year plan.

At the camp I went to last year we were organized in groups. At this camp they are called cells. I am trying to be a cell leader. We had games yesterday and I won a race and got a hammer. If I win tomorrow I get a sickle. We were supposed to get up baseball teams but the man says he is giving us voice-throwing and marching. In a test today I finished second in voice-throwing. I shouted "Down with the dirty capitalists" louder than any boy in the camp. I got a bad sunburn and went to the camp doctor, but he would not do anything because he liked the color.

My camp leader likes me very much. He is teaching me to play chess. He says if I am good he will tell me all about a great man called Karl Marx. He told me about a lot of new games for children. One is called Double Cross. Thursday will be Veto Day at camp, whatever that is. He says the veto is great fun. Willie Grummet who came to camp with me got sent home. He violated a frontier or something. He also had a merit badge taken away for playing with a boy named McCarthy. The McCarthy boy disappeared very suddenly on a walk with the camp director. Well, it is all good fun and I am feeling well, mommer, and hope you are the same.

Love,
Wilbur.
P.S. Send me some invisible ink. My next letter may come in code which I am learning here.

John Golden just celebrated his 80th birthday and is one of the few people in show business who tell their right age. He also wrote the lyrics for the famous "Poor Butterfly." Who remembers his great success "Lightnin'" with Bill Bacon?

WASHINGTON, OR BUST

Robert S. Allen Reports

Ike, Churchill Agreed To Rearm Germany Promptly

Washington — One crucial understanding was reached early in the Eisenhower-Churchill talks.

This speedy and cordial unanimity was the reason for the emphasis placed on European defense in their first joint statement. On this vital subject all the conferees saw eye-to-eye from the very start of their prickly discussions.

The harmony engendered by this initial accord did much to ease the tension resulting from the split over the Southeast Asia issues.

From inside accounts, all this did not happen accidentally. It was apparently largely due to shrewd stage managing by the British Prime Minister.

Cannily stressing the insistent demand of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles that German forces must be included in the NATO defenses against Soviet aggression, Churchill led off with two electrifying alternatives to French-Italian recalcitrance.

In the event either or both persisted in refusing to ratify the European Defense Community pact, he announced that Britain is prepared to consider the following for reaching measures:

Entering into a military alliance with the U. S. and West Germany, under which that country would be restored to full sovereignty and be allowed to rearm up to a specified strength.

Departing from Britain's traditional position and agreeing to contribute divisions to a European army; that is, in effect, taking the place of France in such an anti-Red organization.

President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles were much impressed by these striking proposals.

However, the President repeated his strong view that the soundest way to safeguard Europe is through EDC with French and German participation. He emphasized the desirability of doing everything possible to win French and Italian cooperation before turning to other plans.

Churchill heartily seconded that. He pointed out that his "revolutionary" proposals would encounter powerful opposition in England.

"But my government is ready to make great sacrifices to keep West Germany on the side of the free world," Sir Winston said. "I hope America is willing to do that, too. And we must act soon. Time is running out for us in Germany, and if we don't act quickly, the Communists will, and then it will be too late."

"There can't be any question," said the President, "that West Germany is indispensable for the defense of Europe. It is impossible to defend Western Europe against Soviet aggression without German troops."

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden suggested that both Premier Mendes-France and Chancellor Adenauer be advised of this Anglo-American understanding.

Note: Dulles and Eden exchange-

ed surprised comments on the failure of Molotov and Chou En-lai to do any haranguing at Geneva on their favorite propaganda tactic of accusing the U. S. of germ warfare in Korea. The American delegation was prepared to blast this falsehood, but never got the chance. For a still-unresolved reason, the Reds shied away from the phony charge.

No Into Yes—Nothing was said about the matter to Prime Minister Churchill during his Washington visit, but he's been dragged into the hot backstage fight in the Senate Judiciary Committee over the wiretapping bill.

This was done by the bipartisan bloc that is trying to shelve Attorney General Brownell's measure to legalize wiretapping evidence.

The foes are using a distorted Churchill speech as an argument against the legislation. They are dramatically highlighting their attacks on it with this novel illustration.

The talk is the one Churchill made to a joint session of Congress in May 1953, when he made his first visit to President Eisenhower after he took office. In the recording of this address, played to the Senate Judiciary committee, Sir Winston is made to say exactly the opposite of what he actually said.

The opposition is citing this as a graphic instance of the dangers of Brownell's bill.

The unusual testimony was obtained from Robert Coar, who runs Congress' radio and TV studio. He appeared before the senators with two tape recordings, and before playing them made the following startling explanation:

"When Mr. Churchill addressed Congress last year, we made a recording of his speech. Later, some reporters who had missed part of what he said, asked if they could come to the studio and hear our tape. We told them they could. You may recall that one of the most striking things he said was, 'I come not to ask you for money. I come to ask you for military aid. We English are putting out all we can towards this effort.'"

"As a joke on the reporters, we changed around Mr. Churchill's statement so that we had him saying as follows, 'I come here to ask you for money. The British do as they please. What we do with your money is our business.' That's what the changed tape had him saying in his own voice and words."

"When the reporters arrived, we played the tape and they made their notes from what Churchill said on the recording. None of them raised any question about it. But after several minutes, and because we knew they were very busy, we explained our practical joke so it wouldn't go too far. But this illustrates what can be done with recordings. They can be distorted very easily."

George Sokolsky Says...

Cohn's Usefulness In Battling Reds Will Not End If He Leaves Committee

Those who dislike him call him brash, ill-tempered, aggressive.

Undoubtedly, he has a special gift for making intense enemies and loyal friends. His enemies are devoted to his destruction because at some point in the relationship he has cut through to the hard core of character without the mitigating graciousness of telling only a good friend and not the victim of his penetration.

It is Roy Cohn of whom I write, at 27, a national figure whose mail pours in like a movie star's. He is a graduate lawyer at 20; a clerk in the United States Attorney's office before he was admitted to the bar; he is already a veteran trial lawyer and probably one of the four or five most understanding lawyers in cases involving Communists or their affiliates.

It usually takes between three and five years for a lawyer to fit himself to handle Communist cases. Because of the Reds' use of Aesopian language, as, for instance, using the word peace when war is meant, or democracy when a dictatorship of an elite controlling a party is meant, it is necessary for a lawyer who goes into such cases to have made a full study of the literature of the subject. It is a large volume of material going back more than a century. While not all Communists and very few anti-Communists are intimate with this literature, no lawyer can understandingly enter this field without a thorough knowledge of it.

This has, in no small measure, been the secret of Roy Cohn's success in the preparation of the Case of the Top Communist Eleven, the Remington Case, the Second String Communist Case, and the Rosenberg Case. While Cohn worked alone on none of these cases, his contribution in all of them has been enormous, his ability uncontested.

I can write of Cohn with frankness because we are friends between whom there can be no flattery or malice. It is not secret that when Cohn took over the chief counselship of the McCarthy Committee, he found not a case in the files which had any meaning. Also there was an accumulation of lawyers whom Senator McCarthy would not fire, because he finds it difficult to fire people. Cohn had to do the house cleaning and he did it without worrying about very many amenities. His attitude was that superfluous legal furniture was unnecessary.

Roy Cohn does not need this job and possibly does not understand the attitude of one who does need a job and for whom unemployment can be a personal tragedy. His father, Albert Cohn, a Judge on the Appellate Court in New York and one of the most respected of jurists, has had an important career in the Democratic Party in association with Edward J. Flynn. Roy Cohn grew up in the Democratic Party and since childhood has known most of its leading personalities in New York. His prospects in the Democratic Party were always good and his advancement could have been swift.

However, many Democrats in New York are of the so-called liberal persuasion. Many of them took advantage of United Front action in the good old days when that was the way to get elected and when Russia was our ally. Those friends of the Cohns regarded Roy's anti-Communist activities as an aberration of youthful enthusiasm. They hoped that he would soon get over it. When he joined up with Senator McCarthy, the social pressure upon Roy and his family became virtually unbearable.

The Communists and their friends have done a pretty good job of smearing McCarthy as an anti-Semite. Roy Cohn rejects this as untrue from his own experience. It has, however, been very tough on his family whose social and political associations have always been with those who disapprove of the Junior Senator from Wisconsin. Judge Cohn has, however, stood by Roy throughout this fight.

It is to be expected that Roy Cohn will continue to battle Communists. He knows that some of the members of his Committee do not want him on it. When it has been suggested that he has intimidated one or two members, it can only be that men whose records are not clear fear of his knowledge. Such men may succeed in ridding this Committee of its ablest man, but will it end its usefulness in fighting Communists? Naturally, it will not.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

In New York, there is an old German restaurant named Luchow's which grows more popular, it seems, as time goes on. Broadway and Hollywood celebrities flock there in particular on Sunday nights. One promising starlet was making her first appearance in the Big Town and her publicity-conscious agent said, "The place in which you'll attract the most attention tonight is Luchow's." "That suits me fine," enthused the starlet. "I haven't been to an honest-to-goodness Chinese eatery in heaven knows when!"

On one of those kiddies' TV quizzes, a precocious lad was asked to define "forefathers." His answer: Fathers with four heads! On another program a 7-year-old girl (city bred) boasted that on her vacation she had gotten round to milking a cow. "Did you enjoy the experience?" asked the master of ceremonies. "Oh, yes," said the little girl, "but I didn't get much milk out of it."

Mars, Earth's sister planet, is now touring this section of the solar system. However, Mars, unlike human kind, won't stretch the weekend visit into a summer-long stay.

An Indiana railroad, now observing its birthday, is known as the "Hoosier Line." Pronounced no doubt, "Hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo-sier!"

A rare bird, a Lesser Hill mynah, has vanished from the Detroit zoo. Could be worse—supposing it were a Greater Hill mynah!

Those youthful Washington hoodlums, says Grandpappy Jenkins, who tossed rocks at a Missouri congressman, are guilty of a great deal more than just rising to a point of disorder.

Among light summer fiction we must now classify those "great victories" communiques being issued by both sides in the Guatemalan war.

In India an 18-month-old girl and a 2-year-old boy have undergone a marriage ceremony. Neither, apparently, believes in long courtships.

Sixty million Americans will make vacation trips this summer, according to an American Automobile association estimate. Makes it tough on the 100 million other U.S.ers, doomed to become unwilling hosts.

One of England's best marbles shooters is 82 years old. Just like Old Man River he keeps right on rolling along.

A manufacturer predicts some day there'll be auto tires which will last 100,000 or more miles. The motorist of the future, it seems, may have to take along a spare chassis and motor.

Texas press photos picked a real beauty for their "queen." A case of snap—but very excellent judgment.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

It always makes me laugh when I read or hear about the old saw — particularly popular among many writers and some editors — that the American public has a "mind of a 12-year-old child, and that the proper thing is to "write down" to them.

If that were true, then the only way we writers could make the public understand us is not to write DOWN but UP to them.

Have you ever matched your wits with those of a 12-year-old boy or a 12-year-old girl?

Have you ever tried to emulate the courage, the daring, the adventurous spirit of a 12-year-old?

One of our neighbors has a boy of 12, going on 13. That kid thinks that because I am a newspaperman I have the answer to every question. So, every time I see him coming down the road on his way to our house, I go upstairs and hide in the bedroom until he gets through asking my wile questions.

But I cannot even hide from him any longer. The other day he discovered that the way to find out whether I am home or not, is first to look in the garage. If the car is in, I must be in, too. Country people can't go anywhere much without their car.

But this was not to be a dissection on the mental agility of children or grown-ups. It was just to prepare you for a bit of friendly advice I want to give you, realizing that you won't take it anyway.

I hope you won't need the advice, I trust that you have advised yourself the same thing and are well on the way to safety and security.

What I want to advise you is, for once, to follow the old, old counsel of preparing for a rainy day, and to save at least a small part of the money you earn.

One of the reasons I feel so strongly about it, that I have just come from the County Home, which is a nicer name for the county poorhouse, where I visited a man who, during his productive lifetime, earned more than half a million dollars and today is without a single nickel to his name. His wife, luckily, passed away before him. His son was killed in the war, his daughter is too proud to acknowledge the father who spent so much of his fortune to give her nice things.

So now he will have to live his declining years in the poorhouse, a sick and broken man—although he earned more than $25,000 a year once upon a time.

In California they arrested an ex-actress for stabbing her husband to death. The paper said simply, "He was killed in a domestic quarrel over finances."

I wonder how many thousands of domestic quarrels there are every day over finances.

A Danbury, Conn., machinist and a Bridgeport car washer went into bankruptcy. The machinist owes $4,023 and has assets of $259. The car washer owes $885 and owns $40. "In each case," the report says, "the assets were the value of autos."

I think both stories speak for themselves.

You may buy a side of beef because you spend less per pound by buying a larger quantity. But you put what you don't need in the freezer for future use.

Why not also put your money in "deep freeze" where it will not only keep but draw dividends, rather than use it all up at one time and get a stomach ache?

The oldest fossil horse is the dawn horse. It had three toes on the hind feet and four on the front.

A modern coal mine is not black, but white from pulverized limestone sprayed on the walls to reduce fire hazards.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Memos of a Midnighter: Joseph Pulitzer's grandson, Adrian Moore (with the U. S. movie colony in Rome), picked out his own prize there. Italian socialite Odetta Pallavicini... Nancy Kelly, the leading lady, has switched to Warren, Cato, the Theatre Guild attorney... Nobel Prize winner William Faulkner's daughter Jill is reported merger-bound with a Washington socialite... U. S. Gypsum which jumped 4 1/2 points Friday (which we noted Sunday) jumped another 7 1/2 Monday... Peter Lawford's new in-laws (the J. P. Kennedy's) gifted the newlyweds with a Cape Cod Summer manse... Elizabeth Taylor's hepatitis isn't serious. It'll merely keep her off cocktails a year... The Curt Conways (Kim Stanley) aren't giving it Much-of-a-Chance... Sammy Kaye's new vocaleuse is curvy Mary McCoy, Buffalo schoolmarm... A new song is titled: "Love I You." Believe it or not!... Gumbel's standing army looks more like a running gag.

Sallies In Our Alley: The fans were getting noisy comparing Willie (N. Y. Giants) Mays to center-fielders like Duke (Dodgers) Snider and the vet Tyis Speaker... "If Willie keeps improving," grumbled a Yankee fanatic, "they may start comparing him with Di Maggio!"... Heard at Dubrow's: "No matter what the anti-McCarthy say, the Army looks a lot better with Schine in and Peress out."

Tune Pan Alley Vignette: "Little Things Mean a Lot" is the No. 1 song seller in the land, both in sheet music and recordings... Kitty Kallen's Decca disc is given the major credit for its click... The melody is by Carl Stutz, a disc jockey for station WRVA (Richmond, Virginia)... The appealing wordage is by Edith Lindeman, the Amusement Editor for the Richmond, Va. Times-Dispatch... Their first published song... It is No. 1 on Luckies' Hit Parade, too... Edith has 5 grandchildren.

Broadway Baubles and Beads: The N. Y. Giants' new bonus pitcher Paul Giel is throwing his best pitches at Inga Boring, sportscaster Bill (ABC) Stern's Girl Friday... News item: "Assault charges against Marion 'Pajama Game' Cole's husband dismissed." They were not dismissed.

They were discharged. Insiders fear trouble... Francis F. Carr, ex-FBI agent, treasuring in 2 weeks) fed-up with the sneers, gave up his FBI pension to aid McCarthy to fight communism.

Father of 3 tots... Jim Juliana (also a former G-Man) inherits Carr's job... Memo from Ivy Cahn: "You credited Reader's Digest with the crack, 'I don't like to repeat gossip, but what else can you do with it?' You also liked it (about 100 years ago) when you used it in your Sound-in-London is 'Mormon-Dancing.' A fella dances with two dolls at once... Life's lovely front-cover girl is Ford Agency model Joanne Aehle of Calif... Pvt. Schine has an offer to run for Congress from a district near his home burg: Gloversville, N. Y.

New York Story: It happened at the Uptown branch of the State Dept's Passport Agency... Several staffers reportedly were discourteous to a novelist. Said she was going abroad for material for a new book... They laugh at her. One called her "a bum!"... If she didn't leave at once (another allegedly said) they'd call police... She left to catch a plane back home to Buffalo and cry it out to her husband... Hard to believe, isn't it?... The source is the novelist it happened to: Taylor Caldwell, whose most recent book is "Never, Victorious—Never Defeated"... Writer of 16 best-sellers.

Cast of Characters: Leonard Bishop, author of best-sellers "Down All Your Streets" and "Days of My Love," writes all his books in midtown cafeterias. His current inspiration spot is The Waldorf eatery on Broadway and 75th. Now on his 4th tome... Commentator Taylor Grant wrote his first song 16 years ago. Title: "I Live for You." It was accepted, but the publisher sold out to another, who buried it. The title, they said (over at Chappell) "was not commercial." Imagine Grant's surprise recently when the same firm published David Rose's new song named "I Live for You."

Kiwanis Club Hears Talks, Makes Awards

OPERATIONS of Alcoholic Anonymous and personal experiences of three followers were explained to the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

One AA speaker described that group's activity as a 24-hour program and emphasized hope as a dominant factor. Another said he had gone through 25 years of drinking, had been hospitalized a number of times, and was nearly a physical wreck with strong thoughts of suicide before AA advice and associations helped him.

The third said he had refrained from drinking almost five years now, and described the happiness it had brought him. He said AA was a great contributor to medical science since alcoholism was the third or fourth greatest killer in the world.

"AA gives hope and help to alcoholics in a program of work and faith, hope and prayer," he said.

WINNERS of Kiwanis citations in the 1954 graduating classes of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools also were presented to the club and given gifts.

Alfred W. Munson introduced Miss Marion Swartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Swartley, Stroudsburg High citation winner. She had four scholarships offered and will enter Duke University in the Fall. She was accompanied by her father, a former Kiwanian.

In East Stroudsburg High School there was a tie in the vote of the faculty for the winner and both were accepted by the sponsoring club. Ralph O. Burrows, principal, introduced them. They were Miss Joyce Leap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leap, and Jere Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young. Mrs. Young accompanied her son.

Miss Leap will enter Bloomsburg State Teachers College in the Fall and take the commercial course. Young will take up the Business Administration course at U. of P. in Philadelphia. Each citation winner was presented with a gift by the club. Their names will be inscribed on bronze plaques in the respective schools.

DR. C. W. DUPE presented a panel program at the Stroudsburg club meeting yesterday noon based on training of youth. On the panel were Dr. D. B. Corson and L. W. Foltz, of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, and Dr. Robert Brown, retired superintendent of Stroudsburg public schools.

Feature of next week's meeting will be presentation of the Benjamin Rush award to two area people—Frank S. LaBar, president of the trustees of the Monroe County General Hospital, and Mrs. Charles Mott, of Shawnee-on-Delaware, chairman of the Grey Ladies who give voluntary service at the hospital.

Monroe County Medical Society recommends those to be honored. The State Medical Society approves. The club directors will meet at the Penn-Stroud at 5 p.m. Tuesday for committee reports and plans for the final six months of the year.

Assessment percentage figures in most Monroe county districts remained pretty much the same in 1953. Although real values zoomed up in some areas, with few exceptions the assessment percentage varied less than one per cent.

MONROE COUNTY'S average assessment percentage for 1953 was 21.5. In 1952 the total was 21.34—little change, simply because, while some smaller districts—such as Hamilton, Tobyhanna and Tunkhannock—tried desperately to

Monroe County Figure Among Lows In State

MONROE County's assessment percentage—the percentage of assessed value in relation to actual value of real estate—is one of the lowest in Pennsylvania.

The lowest assessment percentage in Pennsylvania belongs to Centre County. Real estate in Centre is assessed at only 20.2 per cent of actual value.

Monroe County's percentage is 21.5—only 1.3 per cent above the State low. Monroe's percentage is also far below the average for the State.

CLEARFIELD County had the highest assessment percentage in the State during 1953—77.9 per cent. All other counties in this area had higher percentages than did Monroe.

Among the area counties listed by the State Tax Equalization Board in its 1953 report, applicable to 1954 school subsidies, were the following:

Lackawanna County had a market of $437,460,800 with assessed valuation of $160,808,643 or 36.8 per cent of true value; Luzerne County market value was $711,275,500 with assessed value at $263,073,926 or 37 per cent.

PIKE COUNTY had a market value of $42,551,800 with assessed valuation of $12,596,620 or 29 per cent; Wayne County market value was $57,678,400 with assessed value at $16,822,396 or 29 per cent; Susquehanna County market value was $44,996,100 with assessed valuation of $17,091,876 or 37 per cent; Northampton County's market value was $546,270,100 with an assessed value of $151,071,439 or 27.7 per cent.

Figures released by the STEB are used to set subsidy payments to 2,490 school districts in the Commonwealth by the Department of Public Instruction.

Boy's Death Is Attributed To Hemorrhage

A SEVEN and one-half-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., boy died at 6:42 p.m. yesterday in General Hospital.

Cause of death was apparently a brain hemorrhage, Dr. Charles Rushmore said.

The boy—Lloyd P. Lacher—became ill suddenly after breakfast yesterday morning, Dr. Rushmore said. He was brought to the hospital, ill with a headache and convulsions, at 9:15 a.m.

HE HAD been vacationing with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George Lacher, in a bungalow near Minisink Hills. The family, whose permanent address is 135 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, rented the cottage by the season for summer vacations.

The boy was apparently in good physical condition and well until he became ill yesterday morning, Dr. Rushmore said the family reported.

No absolute verdict on the cause of death could be given since the family, for religious reasons, could not permit an autopsy, Dr. Rushmore said.

A SPINAL tap taken at the hospital disclosed the presence of blood, the physician said, indicating brain hemorrhage or the existence of a fatal tumor.

The child's body was released to Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home. It will be taken to Brooklyn early this morning where services will be performed today. Burial will be made in Beth David Cemetery, Elmont, Long Island.

Swim Pools Popular But Quite Costly

By David G. Bareuther
AP Real Estate Editor

BACKYARD SWIMMING pools no longer are a monopoly of the movie stars. You can find them in almost any neighborhood. Of course, you can find headaches attributed to them, too, if you ask the man who owns one. But that is one of the advantages of gossip about houses and their equipment—you can learn when to go ahead and build something, or when not to.

Building a swimming pool seems simple—just a concrete-lined hole in the ground, like a little basement. We saw an article in a current magazine, telling how one man built a 20 x 40-foot pool for less than $400. About the same time we got an advertisement in the mail from a contractor who would build one that size for $1,775. Even that is cheap if the pool would be satisfactory.

IT TAKES a lot of material to build a pool properly. In the first place, excavation for a 20 by 40-foot pool will mean the removal of 300 cubic yards of soil. Forms for the pouring of concrete will total 1,420 square feet. You'll need 2,120 pounds of reinforcing steel and 420 pounds of steel mesh. The concrete for the walls and footings will total 42 cubic yards and the concrete for the floor will mean 15 more cubic yards. In addition, you'll probably use 180 linear feet of drainage tile.

There's your bill of materials. We got it from Portland Cement Assn. engineers, who ought to know.

"These quantities," they said, "are for the pool only. Sidewalks, expansion joints, equipment, plumbing, water purification, etc., should be added as required."

THE PROBLEM of water purification is something to consider. If you don't have unlimited supplies of water for refilling the pool every couple of days. One of our neighbors recently had a pool completed in his yard. Somebody asked one of his youngsters if they had used it yet. "No, not yet, for two reasons," he replied. "One is that Pop hasn't got the chlorinating system yet and another reason is there are two dead rats in there."

But draining and refilling, or continuous purification of the water seem to be only part of the story. Experts in a position to know say that a private swimming pool which will stand an engineering analysis frequently is too expensive to build.

"MANY POOLS have been built which cannot be justified from an engineering standpoint," these men admit. "Some of them have given good satisfaction, while others have been a source of considerable trouble. The pools which we can conscientiously recommend from an engineering standpoint are often too expensive for the small backyard pool."

However, there are dozens of reputable contractors in this business, especially in the South and on the West Coast. So if you can get a guarantee, get ready to try that springboard.

Two Color Shutters

THE EXTERIOR color scheme for a Georgian house, prescribed by a noted decorator, specifies deep green shutters for the windows on the first floor and putty-colored shutters for the second story windows.

Color In Lighting

IF FLUORESCENT lighting is used in a kitchen, select the color carefully. Some colors, such as blue, tend to make foodstuffs, especially meat, look greenish and unappetizing. The "soft white" light is your best choice.

WIL-BOND before Repainting

A glossy varnished or enameled surface should be cleaned and dulled before repainting. It's easy with WIL-BOND. Just dampen a rag with this liquid and rub down the surface. Off come wax, grease and dirt—and the gloss is thoroughly dulled. The new finish spreads smoothly and adheres perfectly—no danger of a streaky, unsightly result.

Streamlined Sink Designed To Speed Kitchen Chores

STREAMLINED TO THE "nth" degree, the modern sink is not only good-looking but is also designed to speed kitchen chores, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

From its lustrous chromium-plated faucets, its time-saving spray, its roomy compartments and wide drainboards, to its spacious cabinets with many built-in conveniences, the latest types of sink represents significant advances in styling for beauty and efficiency.

The sink is the work center of the kitchen. The entire layout of the modern step-saving and space-saving kitchen is planned around it.

Available for kitchens in new homes as well as the modernization of kitchens in old homes is a wide variety of sinks in sizes to suit every space requirement.

One popular type of sink is 36 inches high, 25 inches wide from front to back, and is made in four lengths—42 inches, 54, 60 and 72. The housewife may choose from single or double compartment models, with or without drainboards on either or both sides.

For smaller kitchens, where every inch of floor space counts another model is available which is three inches narrower, being only 22 inches from front to back. This type of sink is available in lengths of 42, 54 and 60 inches. The number of compartments and the number of drainboards is optional.

Bold Drapes Accentuate Plain Walls

DRAPERIES can bring color, line and texture into a room. Bold patterned draperies accent plain walls and floor coverings. Solid colored textured draperies add to the effectiveness of a room in which upholstery and wallpaper are patterned.

Draperies, as a rule, should just clear the floor. In informal rooms, sill or window frame lengths are adequate.

In very formal room settings, draperies may be cut as much as a foot longer, so that they will pile on the floor.

Select light colors and informal fabrics for a small room. Use heavier materials and bolder colors when rooms and furniture are large.

Heavy luxurious materials will help increase the apparent size of a window, as will a strong color contrast in the pattern.

Decorative fabrics as draw draperies can change and play down architectural irregularities in a room.

Paint For Awnings

DON'T USE ordinary paint on canvas awnings. They can be freshened up with special canvas or awning paint. And the best bet is to repaint the awnings in a solid color instead of trying to produce stripes or some other design.

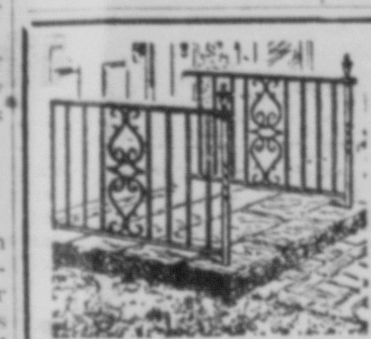

The United States has almost 35 per cent of the total reserves of coal in the world and Russia has 23 per cent.

Select Plan Fitted To Requirements

ANY HOUSE PLAN should be selected to fit a family's specific requirements, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

While most homes are bought today from models in builders' developments and virtues and defects of the floor plan can be observed in reality, a great many families buy a stock house plan and then depend on someone, not an architect, for advice on changes to fit the family's needs.

It must be remembered that if changes are necessary, they should be made by an architect or an experienced draftsman before the building contract is let. Amateur sketches are never adequate for actual construction and may cause unnecessary and costly mistakes the bureau warns.

When Whitewash Sticks

IT IS usually difficult to remove all the whitewash applied to masonry walls because some of it will stick in the pores of the concrete. A way to get around this is to remove all the whitewash you can by scrubbing and then coat the surface with a glue size. When the size dries it will shrink and pull the whitewash out of the pores.

June 30, 1954.
The Editor,
The Daily Record,
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

Now and again a distinguished guest addresses the Poconos in Monroe County school superintendent.

ENTERTAINMENT was by Miss Jeanne Mothstein, of Lehigh, pianist, and the Ladies' Kitchen Band, of Bath.

The following deaths were reported to the secretary: Clarence Ott Jr., of Allentown; William Garret, of Northampton; Leon Ott, Robert Ott, Mrs. Charles Green, of Kunkletown; Mrs. Anna Shiffer, of Nazareth; Miss Sara Frantz, of Kunkletown; Edward Frantz, of Allentown; and Miller Frantz, of Kunkletown.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Bohner.

words bearing the flavor of advice to the backward. Possibly the Poconos need this kind of stimulation. Possibly it was helpful and progressive for the gentleman from Florida, as reported in yesterday's Record, to decry at Mount Pocono Rotary the lapse of our Laurel Blossom Festival and to praise the glories of Florida's Orange Bowl promotion as something we might attempt here.

It is more likely, however, that the grouping of 78,000 people for a post-season football game is somewhat rich for our blood. It can be that 350,000 parade spectators, $30 million in gross business, 48 million lines of free publicity, and other alleged benefits claimed for Miami are about the last thing the Poconos want or need.

We are not a tropical city of 250,000, as Miami is, with 15 airlines, overseas and coastal shipping, bank clearings of 2 billions, 7 newspapers, and a city manager who has been in office since 1925. We have had no Steve Hannigan to collect and throw out millions for bathing girl publicity. Neither have we had a tragic 1925 boom-and-bust or the kind of post-war speculative over-expansion that gave Florida the January jitters early this year.

The Poconos have their own kind of promotion, including considerable attention for Laurel Blossom Time this year. It is soundly based on day-by-day news mention of the region—the very "hammering away" at the words Pocono Mountains which the speaker at one point suggested. If the gentleman from Florida had noted the newspapers throughout the East this year he would be aware of several thousand lines of well-written Pocono promotion—attractive to our kind of people and achieved at modest expense without the fan-tastic risks and rackets of race tracks, national beauty contests and bowl football games.

Sincerely yours,
EVERETT H. CLARK.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's magic—sort of like Aladdin's lamp. You breathe something about a family reunion—and lo! there's a family reunion, complete with youngest, oldest, most recently married and all the rest.

And sigh about the end of the June weddings, and along come a lot of July engagements. Well, anyway, they were announced in July. Though I rather suspect that Lillian Moyer sort of timed hers to coincide with her parents' twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

There's going to be a lot of excitement about Bobbie Edwards' engagement, too. Six-foot-four, that's what her lieutenant is. Of course we might have guessed something was afoot when our touring Scouts wrote home that they'd had lunch with Bobbie in Williamsburg. It would have been something special to make summer school in the South seem worthwhile.

By the way, the pictures that the Scouts took on their trip are beginning to come back and the families are not only getting a liberal education on historical landmarks in our country, but also are discovering that the Scouts hadn't budgeted the cost of developing as part of their expenses.

Well, there's one thing about it, life is never dull.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a. m.

The following officers were present and were given a welcome to the Stroudsburgs: Mrs. Lucy Roberts, Lebanon, National President; Mrs. Alice Schlatter, National Sentinel; Haverford; Mrs. Jeanette Harris, E. During the meeting the members were reminded that it was Mrs. Anna Fetherman, Past National and Past State President, who instituted Camp No. 289 of Stroudsburg back in 1925.

Gifts were presented to all the committee members and distinguished officers. A set of candle holders was presented to the State President, Mrs. Mary Abel.

Mrs. Lucy Roberts started her journey through the National Chairs by being installed as National Sentinel in Stroudsburg in 1949 during the National Convention. As she prepares herself to preside over "her" National Session Convention in her hometown of Lebanon in October of this year, she was presented with a ladder with streamers and money attached as a symbol of her climb to the top.

The presentations were made by Miss Flora Garis chairman of the reception. Following the meeting, everyone enjoyed a social time and refreshments in the dining room.

bride and bridegroom under a canopy.

The bride attended East Stroudsburg Schools and the bridegroom attended the Bushkill Schools.

There are many occupational hazards connected with selling, and one that can be particularly disastrous has to do with age. Not the age of the salesperson, you understand, but of the customer. At least three times within the past month, I have heard elderly gentlemen demand of surprised clerks, "Now how old would you say I am?" All three times I have retraced beyond the line of fire, and watched the women wriggle, with varying degrees of finesse, from the uncomfortable spot to which they'd been pinned.

I remember only too well the day a gentleman asked me to guess his age. I was considerably younger then, and he looked fairly old to me. Wishing to flatter him, however, I made what I considered a conservative guess. "Seventy-five," I suggested. Even as I type, I can see the lie, shirred-up expression of his eyes as he retorted, "Seventy-four, and I look ten years younger."

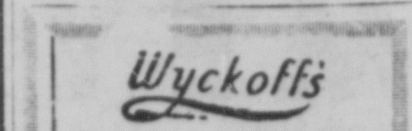

Since the people behind the counter are the real public relations experts of our store, I cringe for them whenever I see a customer firmly plant his feet, throw out his chest, and stare them in the eye. This, I know, is the customary stance when asking the inevitable question. Oddly enough, I've never heard it asked by a woman except quietly and with a bit of humility in her voice. A man will ask it loudly, glancing around for approval.

"Just how do you get out of such a situation?" I've been asked. Maybe the simplest way would be to clutch one's side, moan, and fall over behind the counter. If this didn't accomplish anything else, it might scare the questioner out of an additional seven years.

Now for some real news for those in a vacation or honeymoon mood who have only a small amount to spend for really nice luggage. As you know, our merchandising office in New York occasionally chances upon some truly wonderful bargains, simply because it buys in such great quantity for so many stores like ours. Such was the case recently with luggage, and as a result, we are able to offer seven different sizes in beautifully finished cases for just one-half of their usual price.

"Luxurious canvas luggage," the Kirby-Bloch release says. Actually, these must be seen to be appreciated. They are made of sturdy wood construction with a fully pocketed, padded lining of finest rayon. They have button-polished brass locks, French type folding handles, and a smooth, water-proof, scuff resistant finish. What is more, they are a rich blue in color, strikingly bound in triple stitched white plastic. Handsome is as handsome does—and these are bound to give years and years of service.

In style we have the 16", 18" and 21" overnights, train case equipped to hold bottles of lotion and makeup, weekend case, Pullman case, and wardrobe. Prices range from $7.50 to $15 for luggage that is usually $15 to $30. Don't just believe me... look on the manufacturer's own tag which is attached. Bye Bye? Then be sure to buy BUY!

Margaret Brodell Retires After 33 Years With Bell

AFTER 33 YEARS of asking "Number Please?" Miss Margaret L. Brodell has tossed away her earphone and speaker.

Starting as an operator with Bell Telephone Co. when the firm had its exchange over Wyckoff's Store, Stroudsburg, Miss Brodell advanced to supervisor and yesterday concluded her working career. And to honor the retirement, Bell Company staged an informal luncheon party at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

There were 14 other operators on duty when Miss Brodell reported for work in 1921. She was enlisted yesterday as an honorary member of the Telephone Pioneers, a coveted title bestowed on only a few.

MRS. LULU HARVEY, chief operator in Stroudsburg, presided at the luncheon session and presented Miss Brodell with an orchid, bracelet and pin from the firm.

Miss Brodell will leave here next week to reside with a sister, Mrs. Alta Travis in Dallas, near Wilkes-Barre. Mrs. Travis and three other sisters were guests at the luncheon. Included were Mrs. Carl Secor, Mrs. Mary Schaller and Mrs. Florence Berryman, the latter also an operator with the local exchange.

Others present were Miss Helen Stacy, chief night operator; Mrs. Betty Clark, assistant and Mrs. Marion Coolbaugh.

Teams have been formed, the goal has been set and the ball was put into motion on Tuesday night, as the Varsity "E" Club and Tom Waring and company made plans for the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities to be held Sunday, August 15, at Memorial Stadium. All stops are out and plenty of hard work lurks in the future, but the manner in which Tuesday's meeting was carried out leads one to believe that the show will prove a huge success.

The Varsity "E" Club, as pointed out in this column many times, is the most active organization in the area and the current plan for construction of a permanent lighting system at Memorial Stadium is only one of several developed and completed within one year of the club's organization. Right now the Varsity "E" organization, under the guidance of Reg Numan, is shooting for $18,000, with a total of $15,000 still to be collected. It's a tough task, but one that can and must be completed.

Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities is destined to be the biggest affair of its kind to ever hit Monroe County. It will feature stars of screen, stage and radio and sports figures of all types. There will also be a number of local people on the program. In fact, current plans call for a cast numbering in the neighborhood of 300 people and the show is slated to run for three hours, from 2 to 5 p.m. If the affair clicks as per schedule, it should long be remembered by the people of East Stroudsburg and all of Monroe County.

The show is a natural gimmick for the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and should receive the whole-hearted support of all resorts in the area. It will afford the various tourists in the area a fine Sunday afternoon of entertainment and will allow the visiting vacationists an opportunity of playing their part in the installation of a permanent lighting system at Memorial Stadium.

Teams have been formed and the game has begun. The teams are committees and the goal of the game has begun. The teams are tickets and insure the success of the program. This game isn't like most athletic contests, where one team battles in opposition to the other. This time all the teams are on one side, battling for the same goal. Each committee helps the other and in so doing brings the success of the show just a little nearer reality. Right now the road seems long, but with hard work and cooperation the distance will be reduced quickly.

The importance with which the planned show is held was reflected by the fact that the Varsity "E" Club had one of its largest turnouts for the meeting. Although the turnout was large, the club maintained a crew of workmen at Memorial Stadium, as volunteer labor rushes its work to completion before August 15. The workers are currently covering the ground under the grandstand with concrete and they plan to lay blocks and enclose the underneath section of the grandstand. Shower rooms this summer aren't entirely out of the question.

Everyone is joining in the project from supervising principals to skilled labor and all with one idea in mind—bettering the athletic set-up in East Stroudsburg. All the work leads straight to the great outdoor show to be presented August 15, with Waring serving as chairman of the program and director of the show. Harry Obitz, head golf pro at Shawnee, and Mike Devitt, publicity director at the same resort, are first assistants to Tom and both outstanding individuals in promotion and direction.

It is through the generosity and hard work of this trio that the entire program is possible. The show, featuring some of the truly big names of the entertainment and sports world, is to be built around the famed "The Swings The Thing" golf clinic, which Obitz and his staff have made famous from coast to coast. The cast of golfers include one entry in the National Open golf tournament and a promising young pro who will take part in the National PGA tournament this month. The August show is truly a million dollar production—coming to the area free of charge. The only expense to the Varsity "E" club will be a minor transportation bill or two and that made necessary through the cost of purchases needed for the show.

Portland Clips Pocono A.C. To Take Over First Place

Gutshall, Magnuson Slam Home Runs

Portland brought its home run power into range for the second time in as many days last night and used it to score a 7-5 victory over Pocono A. C. in a Blue Mountain League baseball game played at Gordon Giffels field.

The victory enabled the Apollos to take over sole possession of first place in the standings at the present time.

Activity was only a few moments old when Howard "Howie" Gutshall, former North Atlantic League star, rode one of Bill "Bump" Metzger's pitches far over the right field fence with Jerry Magnuson on base. The blow cleared the wall at the 337-foot mark following a single by Magnuson.

Leroy Tucker opened the second for Portland with a double down the left field line. Harold "Hail" Staples was hit with a pitch and runners were located at first and second. Mike Pontrelli forced Tucker at third on an attempted sacrifice, but Staples scored on a looping single by Bill Greenmoyer, the winning hurler.

Two More

Art Osmon doubled and Magnuson homered over the right field fence to give Portland two more runs in the fifth. A walk to Pontrelli, Osmon's double and Magnuson's double gave the Apollos two more counters in the visiting half of the sixth.

Pocono A. C. was forced to wage an uphill fight all the way after Gutshall's first inning homer and it wasn't until the third frame that the home team was able to break into the scoring column.

Manager Bill Frear and Metzger were safe on back to back errors by Gutshall and the former scored on a double by Dave Nevil.

The A. C. contingent picked up one more in the fourth when Russ Staples drew a life on Gutshall's third error, moved to second and scored on a single by Metzger.

Pocono A. C. shelled Bill Greenmoyer from the hill in the seventh and final inning. Metzger tripled, Nevil singled and Randy Morris unloaded another single. Art Schaefer doubled home the third run of the inning.

Frank Stull relieved Greenmoyer at this point and quickly retired Billy Sommers and Fred "Satch" Gabres.

Metzger gave up 10 hits, while the host club reached Greenmoyer for eight. Portland held a 3-1 advantage in errors.

Many big names of golf, such as Henry Williams, Berkleigh Country Club; Al McDonald, Langhorn; Wally Paul, Old York Road; Willie Palumbo, Kennett Square; John Weitzel, Hershey and a host of others are already entered.

The local area will be represented by Harry Obitz, Stan Dudas, Al Nelson, Dick Farley and Ronnie Ward, all of Shawnee; Jack Cutler, Pocono Manor; Ted Beadle, Buck Hill, and possibly Harold Calloway, Skytop.

There is also a possibility that Johnny Long, once of this area and now of Wilmington, will play in the tournament.

Locals

Chet Odrodoski, Glen Brook champ, and George Felice, Fountain Springs, combined to tie George Minnich and Dan Gaskel, Springfield Country Club, Maple Shade, N. J., for first place last year. Both teams will remain in tact for this year's tournament.

Midiri will team with August "Augie" Lockwitch, chairman of the golf committee at Glen Brook, while Dudas teams with Harold Storm, holder of the lowest score ever registered at Glen Brook.

Another outstanding team entered is Jim Gans and Lynn Cresson, of Harrisburg.

Approximately 50 teams are expected to take part in the all-day tournament covering 18 holes.

The first foursome will leave the tee at approximately 9 a. m.

FBI Agents Arrest Rawlings

Chicago (AP)—Luther Rawlings, 25, one of the nation's top welterweight boxers, was seized by FBI agents yesterday on a charge of failure to register for the draft.

Rawlings, whose real name is Lucius Minor Jr., was seized while training at the Midwest Athletic Club on the west side for a tentatively scheduled July 17 fight at Miami with Italo Scorticini.

Top Contender

Rawlings, who also was one of the top contenders for the lightweight crown in 1952 then held by Jimmy Carter, claimed he registered for the draft in 1947, but FBI agents said they could find no such record.

He failed to post $1,000 bond at arraignment before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike and was taken to Cook County jail.

Rawlings has fought the best men in and out of his division through his ring career.

He beat Roger Bannister's time.

Sarazen and Alliss play another 18 holes tomorrow to decide the Senior title.

Kulp's Foundry Inflicts Loss Number One On Jack's Market

Jack's Market had its Monroe County Softball League winning streak snapped after 17 straight games last night when Kulp's Foundry scored a 6-2 decision at Stroudsburg Playground.

The Market nine had fought its way through the first half with 14 straight wins and then opened the second half with three straight nods before the Foundry crew pounded the first half title holder into defeat.

Kulp's club did all of its scoring in the second inning last night, cracking the ball through Jack's defense for six runs.

Jack's club, held to seven hits by Bob Heid, picked up a single tally in the first inning and another singleton in the fifth.

Jesse Kulp helped stop the Mar-keeters with a brilliant shoestring catch in right field in the last in-ning.

Last night's loss dropped Jack's Market out of at least a tie for first place for the first time this season.

Easton Falls Before Bangor Legion, 13-4

Bangor — Bangor landed its fourth favorable decision in seven Northampton County Junior League baseball outings last night by crushing the Brown-Lynch Post of Easton under a 13-4 score. The contest was held at Memorial Park.

Larry Raph was in full control of the game as the youthful south-paw limited Easton to six hits over the route.

Big Blow

The big blow of the game, as far as Bangor was concerned, came from the bat of Jack Stenlake, who homered with the bases loaded in the fourth frame, an inning in which Bangor scored six runs.

Raph lashed a four-bagger in his own cause and Duane Miller blasted a homer and double.

Easton tied Bangor at 1-1 in the second inning, but the Slaters went ahead with two runs in the third and were in the driver's seat the remainder of the distance.

Bangor blasted out 11 hits and committed only three errors. Easton was guilty of only one misque in the field.

Drobny, Rosewall Enter Final At Wimbledon

By STERLING SLAPPEY
Wimbledon, England (AP) — Jaroslav Drobny and Ken Rosewall started staid Wimbledon yesterday in the semifinals when they turned the men's championship of this world's greatest tennis tournament into a match without an American.

Drobny upset Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 on the center court where, less than two hours before, Rosewall had eliminated the favorite, Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 8-1, 6-1.

Thus when they meet in the final tomorrow, it will be the second time since 1916 that there hasn't been an American finalist in the Wimbledon men's singles. It also will be the 32-year-old Czech's third trip out there for such an occasion.

Drobny, who refused to return to Czechoslovakia in 1949 and became a citizen of Egypt, lost to Ted Schroeder in the final that year. He was runnerup to Australia's Frank Sedgman two years ago. He played in the first of his 11 Wimbledon tournaments 16 years ago—when Rosewall was only three years old.

For three sets, the Rosewall-Trabert match was a classic of cut, thrust, parry and placement tennis. Then the match fell apart as Trabert suddenly lost his mobility when a mass of blisters on his hand and the bottom of his left foot began paining him.

By contrast, the Drobny-Patty match was dull. Drobny won almost with ease.

The women's singles semifinals will be played today with defending champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., opposing Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N. J., and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., playing Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Bankers went in front of the second place Methodists to stay with a pair of tallies in the third round and then put the game on ice with three more runs in the visiting half of the fourth frame.

Bond homered for the winning club with one mate on base in the third inning. The three counters in the fourth came on a home run by Ken Ladice with two runners on the base paths.

The Methodists helped to dig their own grave by committing four errors. National Bank held an 8-4 edge in hits.

Wilhelm's Relief Pitching Enables Giants To Increase First Place Lead Over Dodgers

New York (AP) — Knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm turned in a superb relief performance yesterday to preserve a fine pitching effort by southpaw Johnny Antonelli and enable the New York Giants to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-2 for their sixth straight victory. The victory lifted the Giants' first place lead over the Dodgers to three games.

Wilhelm entered in the eighth inning with the Giants leading 2-1 but with Brooklyn runners on first and third and nobody out. A fumble by "Whitey" Lockman and "Junior" Gilliam's easy roller and Don Hoak's hit-and-run single to rightfield had put the potential tying and winning runs on base and caused Antonelli's exit.

Wilhelm calmly retired Jackie

Robinson on a short fly to left and made Gil Hodges hit into an inning ending double play.

Joe Verdict
The Giants, who had scored their first two runs on a sacrifice fly and a wild pitch by Carl Erskine, led the game in their half of the eighth, tallying three on four bases on balls and Lockman's two-run single. Clem Labine, who had replaced Erskine in the seventh, issued the first three walks. Jim Hughes replaced Labine with the bases loaded and walked Alvin Dark to force in a run before Lockman delivered his two-run blow.

The Giants had a double by Davey Williams, a single by Dark, a walk and a hit batter in the first inning but scored only once —that on Lockman's sacrifice fly.

The Giants capitalized on Erskine's wildness to pick up another run in the fifth. "Hank" Thompson and Don Mueller singled with one out. The runners advanced a base when Erskine threw wildly trying to pick Thompson off second and Thompson scored when the Dodgers' righthander uncorked a wild pitch.

The Dodgers broke through for their first run in the sixth on Gilliam's single, Robinson's force-play bounce and Hodges' long double to right center. Roy Campanella's double in the ninth followed by Billy Cox' single and an infield out accounted for the Brooks' second run in the ninth. Brooklyn — 000 001 001—2 7 1
New York — 100 010 035—5 8 2

Brown Ends Major League Baseball Career

Boston (AP) — Dr. Bobby Brown, New York Yankees infielder, said goodbye to baseball yesterday and headed for San Francisco where he will begin work as a resident physician at the City Hospital.

The 29-year-old Brown received a big ovation in his final game at Fenway Park. He lashed out two singles although the Boston Red Sox whipped the Yankees, 6-1.

"It's tough leaving baseball," Brown said. "But I have a long-range decision to make. I have studied medicine as a career, and I have to make my move some time."

Undecided
Queried about reports he may try to play Pacific Coast League baseball on the side, Brown replied:

"I don't know anything about that. It will all depend on what my hospital schedule is."

Brown joined the Yankees in 1946 from the Newark club of the International League. He was a standout in the 1949 World Series when he got six hits in 12 times at bat for a .500 percentage.

Tigers Win On Tuttle's Homer

Chicago (AP) — Bill Tuttle's homer with none aboard in the ninth after Chicago tied the score at 3-3 with two in the eighth gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 triumph over the second-spot White Sox yesterday.

Detroit's first marker, tying the score at 1-1, came on Wayne Belardi's number four homer with none on deck in the fourth.

Weakens
It appeared the Tigers had sewed up the game in the seventh when Frank Bolling slashed a two-run single with the bases loaded for a 3-1 lead. Bolling had entered the game after second sacker Fred Hatfield jammed a little finger on his left hand on an attempted base theft in the fifth.

Wilson entered the game after starting catcher Frank House suffered a gashed left eyebrow in a third inning collision with teammate Belardi on a pop-up. Detroit — 000 100 210—4 8 1

Cubs Rally To Down Braves

Milwaukee (AP) — The Chicago Cubs went wild in the seventh and eighth innings yesterday, scoring nine runs off an assortment of pitchers to snap an 11-game losing streak and beat the Milwaukee Braves, 9-7, before a ladies day crowd of 34,226.

Relief
A five-run Milwaukee rally in the ninth fell short when Danny O'Connell grounded out weakly and Del Crandall fled to left with the bases full.

Lew Burdette, who started for the Braves, had a one-hit shutout going for the first six innings, but fell apart in the seventh and was relieved by Ernie Johnson after giving up three runs on singles by Gene Baker, Dee Fondy and Joe Garagiola and Randy Jackson's double.

The Cubs rapped over six more runs in the eighth on four singles, three walks and an infield error. Chicago — 000 000 360—9 9 2

Bosox Top Yanks Behind Nixon, 6-1

Boston (AP) — Willard Nixon held New York to six hits in beating the Yankees for the third time this year yesterday as the Boston Red Sox scored a bizarre 6-1 triumph at Fenway Park.

Nixon, who had topped the Yanks 2-1 and 3-1 earlier this year, walked his way into several jams but escaped all but Mickey Mantle's fifth inning home run which tied him with the Tribe's Al Rosen for the league lead with 14. It was Mantle's eighth homer off Sox hurlers this year.

Sammy White's two run single was the big blow of Boston's strange three-run third inning which the team batted around.

In that frame New York's starter and loser, Tom Morgan, tied a major league record by hitting three batters with pitches. Last of the previous six hurlers to attain that dubious distinction was Ray Bages of the old Boston Braves in 1928.

Double
Grady Hatton led off the third with a looping drive down the rightfield line which he legged into a double. Ted Williams drew one of his three walks of the game when Manager "Casey" Stengel ordered him purposely passed.

Karl Olson forced Ted at second on a nice play by Phil Rizzuto behind third base but Morgan hit Billy Goodman on the ankle and the bases were loaded.

White's bounce to short took a bad hop through Rizzuto's legs into left and two runs were in. Morgan then hit Ted Lepelo and Milt Bolling to force in another tally.

Boston was able to get only one run off four singles in the second when Olson was hit by Goodman's single running toward second base and was automatically out. Bolling's blooper to center brought in the run.

Singles by White and Bolling, each of whom drove in three tallies apiece to account for all of Boston's runs, sent the final pair across the plate in the seventh.

The two teams play the rubber game of the series today. New York — 000 010 000—1 6 2
Boston — 013 000 208—6 9 0

Joint Season On Game May Be Dropped

HARRISBURG (AP)—State game officials yesterday labeled a tentative plan to hold the 1954 deer and bear hunting season at the same time only a trial balloon and indicated it would be dropped because of protests from sportsmen.

"The State Game Commission has an open mind on this problem and I'm 100 per cent sure that after it makes a decision most of you will be satisfied," Dr. Logan J. Bennett, executive director, told 50 persons representing Pennsylvania sports groups.

The commission has fixed a probable bear season opening date of Dec. 1, two days after the tentative opening of the antlered deer season.

"THE COMMISSION discussed the problem in full and couldn't decide so we proposed it just to get discussion," explained Commissioner Andrew C. Long, Shamokin. "We're not intent of forcing anything on the sportsmen when the majority oppose it. I personally will be the first to move to restore the bear season to its separate status of last year."

Following a three hour public session to receive the viewpoints of Pennsylvania sportsmen on 1954 hunting rules and regulations, commission members began informal discussions prior to their formal meeting today. Their decisions on the dates, length and bag limits for the fall are to be announced late today or Friday.

Agricultural, Home Economics Extension Association Has Served County For 38 Years

CLOSELY IDENTIFIED WITH the agriculture and rural life of Monroe County during the last 38 years has been the work of the Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service whose objective always has been better farms and better farm homes.

Part of the educational system of Pennsylvania State University, the extension program here is headed by County Agent Arthur E. Liff and Miss Margaret MacLaren, extension home economist. Their program of service embraces all phases of agriculture and home economics.

Extension work was organized in Monroe County on July 3, 1916 when Roy M. Decker was stationed here as the first county agent. A group of farmers met in the rear room of the Pocono Daily Record Building and elected Dr. George S. Travis, of East Stroudsburg, as president.

OTHER MEMBERS of the committee were Irvin Alliger, East Stroudsburg; Dr. Frank Hoffman, East Stroudsburg; Dr. E. J. Kresge, Gilbert, and Harry Bond, of Appenzel. Bond and Kresge have served on the executive committee ever since its inception 38 years ago. Mrs. F. Marguerite Erikson, first extension home economist in the county, started the home economics program a few years later.

The extension office is located on the second floor of the Post Office Building in Stroudsburg. Other members of the staff, in addition to Mr. Liff and Miss MacLaren, are Luther Zimmerman, assistant county agent, and Miss Helen Keller, the office secretary.

This educational work is conducted informally, without charge, and on a voluntary basis. The

WE HAVE a very attractive, substantial summer cottage for sale on White Heron Lake. Living room with fireplace, two bedrooms, modern kitchen, knotty pine dining room with hardwood floor. Boat and dock. Price includes membership in club. You must be approved by the club.

Last summer it was priced at $75,000, but the owner withdrew the listing. We don't know how many local people told us, "We never have a chance to buy on our local lake. ## Marine Unit Nears Close Of Training

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. — Forty members of the Sixth Truck Company, U. S. Marine Corps are nearing completion of summer training here.

Comprising a number of Monroe County men, the company will wind up training Friday, then leave for Jacksonville, N. C., and enroute for home.

Last week the unit scored a 75 per cent qualification average on the rifle range, using M-1 rifles. Leading the firing was Capt. Eugene Cusick Jr., who qualified as an expert marksman scoring 228 out of a possible 250.

SGT. R. D. BURRIER of Scranton paced the enlisted men on the firing line, scoring 225 out of 250 for qualification as expert marksman. Sgt. Burrier also was awarded a gold trophy as the highest enlisted shooter.

Intensive training in rifle inspection followed the rifle tests. Rules of the road, convoy and motor march, demonstration of amphibious vehicles and motor vehicle in operation comprised the various training points.

This week the men are attending the Marine Corps mechanics supply and driving schools. Last Friday they spent a day at a beach on recreation.
